

Program AE-1 was used to plot the temperature, heat distribution and rate of heat flow from the center to the periphery for heat injection at a rate that maintains the borehole temperature at a constant value (various times).